PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume 1 will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

MONDAY AFTERNOON, OCT. 7, 1833.

To our eastern friends.—The rain began to fall some time in the last night; and, since six o'clock this morning, it has rained moderately, but steadily, until the time we are writing this paragraph—noon. There is every appearance of its continuance, and we entertain no doubt that we will have a handsome rise of the river on Wednesday.

We publish, to day, the reply of Mr. Irwin to the certificate of Beale, Drake, and Shaw, with the letters of Messrs. Darragh and Brackenridge. It is truly surprizing that the offensive remarks, in relation to "infidels and christians," should have escaped the notice of the two gentlemen named—if they had ever been uttered.—The remarks of Mr. Irwin, in relation to Masonry, seemed, to Mr. Brackenridge, who is a mason, very intolerant; and, it is not at all probable, that the offensive words would have failed to attract his attention—if they had been uttered.

But there is strong reason to doubt the truth of the certifiers. Mr. Beale, the first of these certifiers, keeps a public house, for the entertainment of customers; and, since the days of Falstaff, every man who frequents an Inn expects to enjoy his ease there, relying, in full confidence, upon the honor of his companions, and the good faith and integrity of his host.

Such, however, is Mr. Beale's eager, anxious desire to injure Mr. Irwin, that he does not hesitate to betray the confidence that is always reposed in a landlord of a public house—he does not hesitate to violate the rights of hospitality—nay, more, he does not refuse even to injure the character and business of his house, by proclaiming to the world, that every man who comes into his house must be on his guard, that there are spies about—men who take notes of conversations, to be used years after, against the ardent and unsuspecting person, who relies upon the honor of his hearers, and the integrity of the landlord.

Now we ask our readers whether this same anxiety to injure Mr. Irwin, which induced George Beale to violate the rights of hospitality and injure the credit of his house, might not also induce him to violate the truth.

As to Shaw and Drake, we know nothing, but are told that they give no additional weight to George Beale's statement.

William Lecky, Esq.—Upon learning that this truly disinterested patriot—who, during many years, has not known the pleasure of being disembarrassed of the toils of office, and who, not long since, compelled the commonwealth to pay him two dollars and fifty cents, per day, as Canal Superintendent, while he was electioneering for the Sheriffalty—was riding the country, electioneering for the combination ticket, we were induced to enquire what was his inducement to this activity. After some reflection, we recollected that he has a large bill against the State, for Whiskey, furnished to hands at the big dam, on the Kiskeminitas, and no doubt he expects that the new candidates will prove more favorable to his claim than the old members. The following are some extracts from the debate, on this subject, in the Senate, last winter.

IN SENATE.

Harrisburgh, March 25.

THE WHISKEY BILL.

The bill to authorize the Auditor General to pay WILLIAM LECKEY, late Superintendent of the Western Division of the Pennsylvania Canal, a sum exceeding five hundred dollars charged for furnishing hands whilst rebuilding the Leechburgh Dam, was taken up in committee of the whole, Mr. Livingston in the Chair.

Mr. Boyd said that it appeared that this claim, or the most part of it was for whiskey, and that in these times of temperance, it seemed neither right nor proper to allow this enormous charge for whiskey. That the Canal Commissioners had authority to settle with Mr. Leckey for whiskey, which it was alleged was furnished to the hands at work at the dam, at their order. It was their duty to do so, and if they would not, it belonged not to the Legislature. It would not be found to be consonant with public opinion for them to be paying such whiskey bills. Mr. Miller supported the resolution. He said the hands had worked hard, and in the water and required whiskey. That some of the Farmers even thought they could not do without giving their hands whiskey.

Mr. Mechling wished to know how much of the whiskey was given to the hands, and how much was used for himself. He was often at the dam and Mr. Leckey was always gone from home, as they said, electioneering for Sheriff.

Mr. Robinson said that he had supposed that this dam was done, and paid for. It had cost the state about 130,000 dollars; and now there was a claim for whiskey drank whilst building it. There was also another claim for 3000 barrels of salt, taken off by this dam. It seems to be truly an unfortunate piece of work, at least for the State. For about three hundred hands to drink rising of $500 WORTH OF WHISKEY extra in two or three months, seemed to him to be rather hard drinking.

Mr. Burden thought himself that this was very hard drinking in these Temperance times, but as the whiskey had been used, and paid for by Mr. Leckey, he would vote for the bill.

Mr. Sullivan believed that from the oldest to the youngest Canal Commissioner not one of them did give Mr. Leckey orders to give the hands this extra quantity of Whiskey. The Auditor General himself had told him that he had refused to pay Mr. Leckey, unless he would get a written order or certificate from the Commissioners, in which case he would allow his account.

It had been stated that the hands worked in water up to their necks! It was not to be supposed that men who were in the woods getting timber, quarrying stone, and building a dam 30 feet high, where the stream was not three feet deep, were up to their necks in water, unless they laid down in the stream! but from the quantity of whiskey used this was not an impossible case !!!

Mr. Sullivan moved to amend the bill by striking out "all money," and inserting "WHISKEY," which was agreed to.

Mr. Burden liked the bill the better for this, for now it was a whiskey bill, which it ought to be.

TO THE PUBLIC.

My attention has been called to the following CERTIFICATE, purporting to be signed by three individuals who are adhering Masons, which appeared in the Pittsburgh Mercury, of the 4th inst.

"W. W. Irwin stated in the presence of the undersigned, that he, Irwin, cared not whether a man was a Christian or an Infidel, who should sit as a Juror in a case where he was concerned; but he did care whether he was an adhering Mason, and that he did consider Masonry worse than Infidelity; and that he would not suffer a Mason to sit on a Jury where he was counsel, where a man was to be tried who was not a Mason.

GEORGE BEALE,
HENRY DRAKE,
JOHN A. SHAW."

I PRONOUNCE THE FOREGOING STATEMENT TO BE FALSE, and I deny that I ever used the words which GEORGE BEALE and his co-adjutors have thought proper to put in my mouth, viz: "That I cared not whether a man was a Christian or an Infidel who should sit as a Juror in a case where I was concerned."

The Editor of the Mercury asserts that the remark imputed to me "was made in "Mr. Beale's bar-room, on Saturday "morning, October 13th, 1832, in the presence of several gentlemen, and noted down at the time." If this be true, why have not the masonic certifiers mentioned the parties to the conversation, and named all the gentlemen present? If the remark was "noted down at the time," why has its publication been delayed from the 13th October, 1832, until this late period—just on the eve of the election—when I have scarcely time to refresh my memory; much less to hunt up rebutting testimony? I appeal to every fair—every honest man to say, whether the very delay in publishing this charge against me is not evidence of its falsehood?

The only conversation I recollect ever to have had at Beale's, on the subject of masonic jurors, took place in the bar-room of that individual just after the last fall election--I think at the very period referred to. There were present Messrs. Alex. Brackenridge, C. Darragh, Wm. Robinson, jr. and the three certifiers, Beale, Drake, and Shaw. The conversation occurred principally between Col. Robinson and myself. I have referred to Mr. Brackenridge and Mr. Darragh to know what their recollection of it is, and those gentlemen have furnished me with the statements given below. The public can decide whether they sustain the certifiers in their statement; and I would ask whether I could have used the words mentioned, in the presence of those gentlemen, and yet that THEY SHOULD NOT HAVE THE SLIGHTEST RECOLLECTION OF IT?

Cornelius Darragh, Esq. has known me from my boyhood, and is as familiar with my sentiments on every subject as any man living. He is known to be a gentleman of spotless integrity, and unblemished honor, and I am sure no consideration could induce him to make a misstatement. Well, what does Mr. Darragh say? Why that he was present at the conversation in Beale's bar-room, and that he does not recollect any such expressions as those imputed to me in the certificate! And further, that he does not recollect to have ever heard me utter any thing similar,

Mr. Brackenridge too is a gentleman of unquestioned veracity, and one of our most respectable citizens. He states that he was present. Mr. Brackenridge is a Freemason, and it is natural to suppose that his attention would have been arrested by a conversation held in his presence where a matter touching Masonry was the topic. Indeed it is manifest, from his letter to me, that my "remarks and expressions" caused a vivid impression on his mind at the time; and yet he, like Mr. Darragh, retains no recollection of my having uttered the offensive expression! Is it not apparent that my language has been misquoted and perverted, and that the charge is a calumny!

I conceive that it is quite sufficient for me at present to contradict the charge which has been preferred against me. Whatever language I may have used in the conversation alluded to, or at any other time in reference to Masonic Jurors, I am well persuaded that those who know me, and my habits of thought and expression, will never believe me to have said that I did not "care" whether a Juryman was a christian or not, however reluctant I might be to render religious opinions the subject of cross-examination in a Court-House. My sentiments as to the competency of adhering masons to act as Jurors, in certain cases are well known—they are on record, and can be referred to at any time. My much esteemed friend, Mr. Brackenridge, may, like some other masons, deem them intolerant, but when called upon, I shall not disavow them, or any other sentiments to which I may have ever given utterance.

WILLIAM W. IRWIN.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 5, 1833.

STATEMENT OF C. DARRAGH, ESQ.

Saturday morning, 5th October.

Dear Sir:—In reply to your note, enquiring whether I was present at a conversation which took place in the house of George Beale, soon after the general election of last year, I have to state that I accompanied you to Mr. Beale's soon after last falls election, and remained there until you and Mr. Brackenridge left.

There was on this occasion a conversation held by you and William Robinson, jr. There were in the room at the time, Mr. Robinson, yourself, John A. Shaw, H. Drake, George Beale, Alexander Brackenridge, and myself.

I have a recollection that you and Mr. Robinson had a conversation at that time, on some points (though I do not recollect what) connected with the Masonic institution, NOR DO I RECOLLECT ANY SUCH EXPRESSIONS AS THOSE IMPUTED TO YOU IN THE CERTIFICATE.

I have had frequent conversations with you on the subject of Masonry, and I know I have heard you express your sentiments freely in relation to the different questions agitated by the Masonic and Anti-masonic parties. I never heard you express yourself in the manner as published in the certificate of Messrs. Beale, Drake and Shaw.

I believe that from my long intimacy with you I have heard you express your sentiments as freely and generally as any other person. I HAVE NO RECOLLECTION OF EVER HAVING HEARD YOU EXPRESS YOURSELF, OR UTTER ANYTHING SIMILAR TO WHAT IS ATTRIBUTED TO YOU IN THE CERTIFICATE OF MESSRS. BEALE, DRAKE AND SHAW.

Respectfully, &c.

C. DARRAGH.

To Wm. W. Irwin, Esq.

LETTER FROM W. W. IRWIN TO MR. BRACKENRIDGE.

Alexander Brackenridge, Esq.

Pittsburgh, 5th October, 1833.

My Dear Sir:—Shortly after the general election last fall, you were present at a conversation which took place in the house of George Beale, on the subject of Masonic Jurors, and in which I took a part. I inclose you a certificate purporting to be signed by George Beale and others, in reference to a conversation on that subject. Will you be good enough to state whether or not you recollect to have heard me say, that I did not care whether a man was a Christian or an Infidel who should sit as a juror in a case where I was concerned? Very resp'y yours, &c.

WM. W. IRWIN.

MR. BRACKENRIDGE'S REPLY.

Pittsburgh, 5th October, 1833.

William W. Irwin, Esq.

Dear Sir:—In reply to your's of this morning, enclosing a copy of a certificate purporting to be signed by Mr. Beale and others, in reference to a conversation or declaration in their presence on the 13th of October last, and requesting me to state "whether I recollect to have heard you say, that you did not care whether a man was a Christian or an Infidel who should sit as a juror in a case where you were concerned." I would answer—I recollect to have been present at a conversation about that time, probably the same referred to, in Mr. Beale's bar-room—in which your remarks and expressions were highly Anti-masonic—and, (pardon me for the expression), intolerant of Masons; but I DO NOT RECOLLECT OF YOUR HAVING UTTERED THE OFFENSIVE EXPRESSION ABOVE QUOTED. I am very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

A. BRACKENRIDGE.

For the Gazette.

WILLIAM W. IRWIN.

The feeling, which has sprung up rapidly, within a few days, in reference to this gentleman, is most gratifying to all who cherish an interest in the moral character and tone of our community. It has nothing to do with party; it is around us every where—earnest, indignant, glowing, sanguine. The occasion, indeed, is one which appeals, irresistibly, to every generous bosom. A native of Pittsburgh, who has grown up under our own eyes—whom we have watched with affectionate interest, from childhood to the moment when his fellow citizens confided to him the guardianship of their dearest interests—who, at each stage of preparation for active life, has won ardent and disinterested friendship, by the purity of his principles, the excellence of his understanding, and the generous ardor of his disposition—is now the object of a system of defamation, believed to be altogether without parallel for reckless audacity. The mandate has gone forth that he shall be put down, no matter what the means. And the plan of operations, too, has been contrived with the low cunning which befits its purpose. Calumnies have been reserved for the very eve of the election, in the hope that no time will be allowed for refutation. The lie, say its propagators, will do its office; and, after the election, we may laugh at the gullibility of those who swallowed it. It will pass, for the present, into the grog shops, and the calm voice of Truth may in vain summon their inmates out into the pure air, to listen to her explanation; they will be too noisy to hear, or too stupid to comprehend, it; and, as to the awful injunction of God, "thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor," we either defy the Decalogue and its sanctions, or believe that election times could not have been in the contemplation of the Deity. Such have been the calculations, and such the course, of those who find in the talents, and influence, and weight of character of this estimable gentleman, a hateful obstacle in their way. Thank Heaven! they did injustice to our community; they relied on its gross stupidity—they have found it intelligent and alert; they invoked malignant passions—and have only brought into bold relief, its generous magnanimity, and its scorn of meanness and deception. The best spirit is awakened.

If we attempt to seize these vile slanders, for examination, how does the cheek burn and the heart sicken at their profligacy! Let us turn, for a moment, by way of specimen, to the one which has been most widely diffused, and most impudently persisted in.

In the Message of Governor Wolf, of 14th January, 1830, he says:

"A considerable revenue might also be raised, without much inconvenience to the public by a tax on anthracite and Bituminous Coal."

In the Message of 30th December, 1830, he says:

"In reviewing the several objects of taxation pointed out in the message of 14th January, I cannot bring my mind to the conclusion, that there is one of those enumerated and recommended, that would not, under the circumstances in which the commonwealth is placed, be entirely proper, or that ought to elicit, from any quarter, the language of complaint. A tax on anthracite and Bituminous Coal, recommended in the Message referred to, has, it is true, been objected to by those engaged in the traffic which that commodity yields, on the ground that the trade in the article has not been sufficiently established to enable it to bear the imposition of a tax, however light. How far this objection (and I believe it is the principal one that has been urged against the measure) is correct, the Legislature will be enabled to judge, and to its decision, I shall most cheerfully submit."

Did we ever hear from the friends of Governor Wolf, in this section, a complaint as to these pertinacious efforts to force the subject upon the Legislature? Did any of them throw up their offices in disgust? No instance is remembered. But what said the advocates of W. W. Irwin, in their appeal to the people of this county, last fall? They spoke thus:—

"What would have been the operation of such a Tax, if the Governor had had his intentions fulfilled? The poor would have felt the pinches of poverty increased by their inability to procure the material to protect them against the inclemency of winter; our now flourishing manufactories, by reason of the enhanced price of fuel, being no longer able to compete successfully with those of foreign countries, would have been stopped; their doors closed; and the working men, who now meet with ready employment, would have been discharged, and turned pennyless and destitute upon the world."

Thus the election of Mr. Irwin was pressed upon the very ground of his known hostility to an obnoxious tax, which had been urged and reurged by the Governor. He went to Harrisburgh, charged to meet it, and to put it down. He did meet it, and did put it down—and now we are told by the friends of Governor Wolf, that, though Mr. Irwin did prostrate this favorite measure, yet there was not enough of fierceness in the manner of encountering it. The friends of Governor Wolf say that Mr. Irwin ought to have blustered more; he ought to have lost sight of all decorum, and to have thrown away his character and influence, by indecent heat and precipitation. He ought to have broken forth at once into invectives against the Governor? This is what the office holders under the Governor now urge. Does any one believe that good could have come of such a course? Is it not plain that Mr. Irwin would have disgusted, thereby, every independent member? Would it not have been said—here we are all anxiously engaged in looking out for sources of revenue, to meet the expenses of the Canal; and you, to whose very doors it comes, cry out, that a particular article in your quarter, shall not be comprehended even in the general "inquiry." What better proof could have been afforded of a consciousness that the opposition was a local or factious one, and incapable of standing a scrutiny? Mr. Irwin was guilty of no such folly. He knew that the result depended, not on the intractable deportment of the representative, but on the facts and arguments he could adduce. In this wise spirit of frankness, he assented to the inquiry; it was gone into, and the subject is now at rest forever. This is Mr. Irwin's crime. He is hunted down because he nobly redeemed the pledge against the Coal Tax, given to the people when he was bitterly opposed by these very men, who are now crying out upon him, with mad and blind inconsistency. Yes, fellow citizens! you are asked to execrate your faithful representative, because, when a dark and portentous cloud lowered over you, he skilfully prepared and pointed the conductor, which bore the terrific bolt harmless to the earth!

But the slander has been widely and anxiously circulated. There are, doubtless, recesses where refutation will not have time to penetrate. Votes will be given under the delusive notion that Mr. Irwin betrayed the interests of his constituents, in the very instance in which he is most signally entitled to their gratitude, for able and efficient service. Can a stronger ground of appeal exist, to every man of candor and integrity—of whatever party—to remedy, as far as in him lies, this flagrant injustice? Is he not bound, when he sees the effect of this atrocious perversion, to endeavor to redress what is, in truth, a mockery of the right of suffrage, and calculated to render our elections a mere juggle?

To most of those who read these hasty remarks there will intervene, before the election, an opportunity of tranquil reflection.—Let every parent look round his own fireside.—If, in that dear circle, there be a son whom he regards with honest pride—whose opening powers he watches with intense solicitude—whose future usefulness, in a long life of honorable activity, he fondly anticipates—let him remember that that cherished object may, one day, be struck at by the same weapon which now aims a deadly blow at Wm. W. Irwin. No moral worth, no intellectual culture, no elevation of sentiment, no manly intrepidity in following what he deems right can save him. These but provoke the dark, and rancorous, and envious spirit of defamation. The ruffian heel of persecution may trample him into the dust, on the very spot where the fierce shout of triumph is hoped for, over one as pure, as estimable, and as high minded. Will you aid in furnishing such a precedent, or forbear to mark your manly detestation of the mingled meanness and villainy which are at work to mar the prospects and to blast the reputation of your young and gifted townsman? Look at the charges against him. In their hollowness and falsehood read the impregnable character of one against whom calumny herself is so much at fault. Be just.—Seize the occasion to act on that lofty sense of right and wrong which your own offspring may, one day, have to invoke, when you are numbered with the dead.

JUSTICE.

Latest from Europe.—The arrival at Boston of the ship Propontis, has furnished intelligence from Europe somewhat later than had been previously received. The only prominent article of news, however, relates to a battle reported to have taken place between the Constitutional army under Count Villa Flor, and the forces of Don Miguel, commanded by Marshal Bourmont, within a short distance from Lisbon. The following is a copy of the intelligence, as contained in the Western (Exeter) Times, of the 23d August.

"Latest News from Portugal.—Two expresses arrived in this city to-day from the scene of war, by which we learn that Bourmont, with the Miguelite forces, had arrived within four leagues of Lisbon, where he was met by Villa Flor, the Pedroite General, with nearly the whole of his forces. A very severe battle took place which terminated in favor of the liberal cause, but not without severe loss on each side, as the Miguelites are stated to have lost 6000, and the Pedroites 4000. There are two accounts, one claiming the victory for Pedro and the other for Miguel."

In relation to this report, the Liverpool Times, of the 27th August, says—

"That if one of the expresses had passed through Exeter on the 23d, the news must have appeared in the London papers of the 25th, but they contained no intelligence of the kind. On the 12th, Marshal Bourmont was at Coimbra, 150 miles N. N. E. from Lisbon with about 12,000 men. The forces of Molellos, according to our last accounts, had been reduced to a mere handful. Cadaval, with his 5000 men, withdrawn from Lisbon, was at Torres Vadras, about 20 miles north of that city. If a junction of these forces had been effected, and the battle had been actually fought, the whole must have been accomplished in five days, in order to have six for the transmission of the intelligence to England. There is no probability that such a march could have been effected in so short a time, over the worst roads in Europe: and there are many other circumstances that tend to discredit the account. The force of the Duke of Terceira at Lisbon was about 5000, and the addition of the garrison of Oporto would increase it to 13,000. This garrison had not arrived at Lisbon on the 12th; and the fact that it could have arrived and been in readiness for action at the distance of four leagues from the capital in four or five days, is as improbable, as that Marshal Bourmont's ill-disciplined and ill-provided army should have marched thither in the same time."

In confirmation of the doubts expressed by the Liverpool Times, it may be added that Exeter is the capital of the county of Devonshire, in the interior of the county, and about one of the last places to look for news. Besides—the paper of the 23d was put to press in the afternoon of the 22d, and although an express sent off from Falmouth or Plymouth for London, would probably pass through Exeter, yet the intelligence conveyed by such express would reach London the next day, viz. the 23d, and consequently be known at Liverpool from London, sooner than from Exeter direct. Our previous London dates are of the 25th, two days after the news of the reported battle must have been promulgated in that city. We therefore place no reliance whatever upon this account.

As this arrival furnishes accounts from the British capital only twelve hours later, there is only to add that the House of Commons adjourned on the 25th to Wednesday 28th, to afford the lords an opportunity for passing the measures before them. On Thursday, if no accident intervened, the parliament was to be prorogued by the King in person.

Liverpool Cotton Market.—A Liverpool paper of the 27th says, that the Cotton Market on Saturday and Monday has been quiet. The sales for the two days were obout 4,000 bags at Friday's prices.

The Inspectors of the General Election, elected in the several wards of the city, have agreed to open the Polls, on Tuesday next, at 8 o'clock, A. M. This is a wise movement, and will benefit all parties, and especially our aged citizens.—U. S. Gazette.

STILL LATER FROM PORTUGAL.

The Cordelia, from Halifax, which arrived here yesterday morning, brings papers to the 25th Sept. The following letter is from the Journal of the above date, received by a merchant at Halifax.

Lisbon, Aug. 22, 1833.—During the last week the strong positions around the city have been preparing and fortifying against any attack the Miguelites may attempt. At present little is known of their numbers, or where they are—possibly in a line from Santarem to Leira, Figueria and Coimbra.

The force of Donna Maria here, and a few leagues in advance, may be six or eight thousand regular troops, and twelve to fifteen thousand others, with four hundred cavalry, and two parks of artillery. We are, therefore, not in much apprehension of the enemy entering the city. Mercantile business is nearly at a stand, without intercourse with the provinces or Spain.

We have advices from Oporto of the destruction of some twelve thousand pipes of wine by the Miguelite army at Villa Nova,—also of the liberal army having attacked the Miguelite lines, forced them, and gained a complete victory, so as to leave the north side open, and report says, the south also, and a free navigation of the Douro.

DEATH OF THE KING OF SPAIN.

Ferdinand, King of Spain, is dead. Don Carlos and followers are said to be on their way from this country to Spain.

The commsssioners of the penitentiary in Virginia have issued a tariff of garment making in that institution. The prices are about half, scarcely half, the usual prices at the shops. Such a system is, in our opinion, iniquitous. The false pride of making a prison pay its own expenses, is likely to deprive of bread a large and respectable portion of citizens. There are four ways of abating the evil. The first, to alter the regulation—second, for honest people to refuse to patronize rogues instead of honest men—third, for all honest men to turn rogues, and get into prison—fourth, to turn, by some means, the prisoners out of their stone shops.—U. S. Gaz.

The Engineer of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal has given public notice that the navigation through the Canal, from the Head of Harper's Ferry Falls to the Shenandoah Lock, will be opened for the passage of boats, rafts, &c. on the first day of October.

By this arrangement, the navigation of the Potomac, which has been for some time interrupted at this point, will be transferred to the Canal, and boats will be enabled to pass the Harper's Ferry Falls, and resume the river navigation above and below them as formerly.

It is confidently expected that in less than two weeks after the admission of the water, as above noticed, the whole extent of the navigation from Harper's Ferry to the Basin between Georgetown and Washington City, will be opened to the public.—Alex. Gaz.

We have, no doubt, from private information, that the Congressional Delegation from South Carolina, with one exception, will vote in favor of rechartering the U. S. Bank. [Bets are offered that this will prove correct.—N. Y. Gaz., Oct. 3.

Mr. Clay and family arrived at this place on Monday last, and left here on the following morning for Philadelphia. While here Mr. C. received the cordial greetings of a large number of his friends.—Wheeling Gazette, Oct. 5.

A dumb pupil, in Paris, being asked "what is Eternity," replied, "The Lifetime of the Almighty."

Hard Language.—I remember a tutor at Cambridge, who had been examining some lads in Latin, but in a little while excused himself, and said he must speak English, for his mouth was very sore.—Horace Walpole.

MISS FANNY KEMBLE'S
New Tragedy of
FRANCIS THE FIRST.

This Evening, October 7th, 1833,
Will be acted, Miss Fanny Kemble's
TRAGEDY OF
FRANCIS THE FIRST.

This Tragedy has been pronounced by the London Quarterly Review, one of the most extraordinary works of the present age.

FANNY KEMBLE,

The rising hope and promise of the Drama—the bud—the blossom—the half blown "rose and expectancy" of the theatrical world—the pledge to the rising generation, that, in their time, at least, Juliet shall not be buried in the tomb of the Capulets, or Belvidera's sorrows be entrusted entirely to regularly broken in, thorough paced, tragedy hacks. Genuine feeling never exaggerates. Miss Kemble is at present the sole hope of the English public in tragedy. She must not disappoint them, if she does, there is no one else on whom they can turn their eyes.

Information Wanted!

WILLIAM MORROW emigrated to America, from Ireland, about thirty years ago, and lived in Goochland county, Virginia, for about twenty nine years, where he acted as a forge master to a company or train of Artillery. From that county he removed to some place within one hundred miles of Pittsburgh. He was born in the parish of Drumbo, county of Downe, Ireland.—His father's name was Matthew Morrow, his mother's maiden name was Sarah Smith. If still living, he is now about sixty years of age.

Any information about him, communicated to the subscriber, by letter, directed to the care of George Goodley, Esq. Cleveland, Ohio, will be thankfully received.

PIANO FORTES.

MR. TAYLOR respectfully announces to the citizens of Pittsburgh, that he has just received an assortment of PIANO FORTES, from the celebrated manufactory of Robert Nunns, Clark, and Co. (late R. & W. Nunns,) of New York, which he offers to the public at a fair price, and liberal terms.

The instruments of this most extensive establishment have (for quality and volume of tone, and for materials and workmanship) received the decided approbation of the most distinguished professors of this country and Europe. The manufacturers therefore feel confident in resting their claims to public patronage upon the intrinsic merits of the Piano Fortes themselves.

FLUTES.

Also, a few of 'Taylor's approved' Flutes; these instruments are well worth the attention of the Amateures of the Flute.

☞ Ladies and Gentlemen are invited to call and examine the above instruments, at Cook and Schoyer's (late Sylvester's) store, corner of Wood and Third streets, where they will remain but a short time, Mr. Taylor's stay in this place being limited. Oct. 7, 1833.

Public Sale of Real Estate.

IN pursuance of an order of the Orphan's Court, of the county of Allegheny, will be exposed to Public Sale, at the Court House, in the city of Pittsburgh, on Monday, the 21st day of October next, at 11 o'clock, A. M., the following described Real Estate, late the property of Oliver Ormsby, deceased, viz:—

1st. All that certain piece of land, situate in St. Clair township, on the Brownsville road, between 3 and 4 miles from the city of Pittsburgh, now occupied by Mrs. Nelson. This tract contains 49 acres, and 144 perches. There are upon it about 35 acres of cleared land; a substantial hewed log house, two stories high, and a fine bank of coal. It is bounded by land late of Henry Baldwin and others, and is part of a tract formerly owned by Fulton, and which was divided among the said Oliver Ormsby, Henry Baldwin, and William Wilkins.

2d. All that certain tract of land, situate on the south side of the Monongahela river, in Mifflin township, now occupied by Fergus Dempsey and George Ramsey. This tract contains, by the patent, 209¾ acres, and is bounded by land of Johnston Glass, Daniel Reisher, heirs of Robert Hays, Joseph West, and others, and by the river. There are about 150 acres of bottom land on this tract: the well known Ferry, called 'The Six Mile Ferry,' is also upon it. Nearly all the bottom land is cleared. The buildings are as follows, viz:—a log tavern house and barn at the Ferry, and a large frame barn, and a frame dwelling house upon the part occupied by George Ramsey. If desired by purchasers, the tract would be sold in two parts, to be divided by the run.

☞ The titles to these tracts are indisputable.—Any information, respecting the land, or the titles, can be obtained from the subscribers. Terms at sale.

PERIODICALS.

AMERICAN RAILROAD JOURNAL, and Advocate of Internal Improvements, which is designed as a repository of the accounts of the rise and progress of numerous works of Internal Improvement, in the United States particularly, and in other parts of the world generally. The work is published weekly, and forms a large octavo volume each year, of 832 pages of 3 columns each, for $3 per annum, in advance.

New York Farmer, and American Gardener's Magazine. This work is designed for the agriculturist, and will be found to contain much, both interesting and profitable, to those who cultivate the soil as a business, or merely a garden for amusement. Published in monthly parts of 32 large octavo pages, with three columns each, at $3 per annum, in advance.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States---In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM.☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,
From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.
Utica, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes giving temporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Herron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention. state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.

VALUABLE PROPERTY FOR SALE.

THE Subscriber offers for sale the farm on which he lives, in Washington county, on Pigeon creek, one mile south of Williamsport, on the Monongahela river, to which there is a perfectly level road. This farm contains near 400 acres, the greater part of which is first rate land. There is on the premises a Brick Dwelling House, a Merchant mill, in good repair, a new saw mill, a stone still house, 35 by 40 feet; a salt works is also in operation, and worked to advantage; about 150 acres of land cleared and under good fence. There is on the premises three small tenements for the accommodation of families. This tract is well timbered, and abounds with stone coal and springs of water, both of the best quality.

To a person wishing to embark in a manufacturing business, and possessing capital, this would be a very desirable situation, having the advantage of both water power from Pigeon creek, and banks of the very best coal near to the works, and easy of access, and its vicinity to so navigable a river where articles of any kind are so cheaply transported to Pittsburgh.

For further particulars, apply to James P. Stuart, Merchant, Wood street, Pittsburgh, or to the subscriber on the premises.

TRAVELLERS.

THE LINE OF STAGES between Chambersburgh and Baltimore, on the Somerset and Mountpleasant route, has been doubled, and now runs DAILY, (Mondays excepted,) leaving Chambersburgh at day-light in the morning, and arriving in Baltimore, early the same evening.

Passengers reach Philadelphia, in this way, the second afternoon, from Chambersburgh, without the loss of any rest; taking the splendid STEAM BOAT LINES, which set out at 6 o'clock in the morning, [via CHESAPEAKE AND DELAWARE CANAL, a work well worth the trip to see.]
REESIDE, Owner.

In all cases where the passengers desire to reach Baltimore in time for the 5 o'clock steam-boat to Philadelphia, they can do so by leaving Chambersburgh at one o'clock in the morning, or immediately after the arrival of the Western Mail Stage. In this way, they arrive in Philadelphia, by eight o'clock the second morning, from Chambersburgh.

☞ When a load offers, the stage will run on Mondays. April 23, 1830.—tf.

TYPE FOUNDRY.

HAVING purchased of Mr. Richard Ronaldson, his long established and very extensive Type Foundry, the subscribers have formed a co-partnership for the purpose of continuing said business, and for the convenience of their friends and patrons, have removed their establishment to a more central part of the city. As it is their intention to keep on hand a good assortment of the best type, and to make such additions and improvements as the taste of the trade and the wants of the country require, they flatter themselves that this establishment will merit a large share of patronage. They have now several founts on hand, which can be furnished at a few hours' notice, and are prepared to make founts of all weights and sizes, from Pearl to 22 lines Pica, including a variety of Ornamental Letter. Their assortment of Cuts, Dashes, Brass Rule, and other Ornaments, will be found to be very extensive, of which specimens will be forwarded to Printers as soon as they can be prepared.

Printing Presses of every description, Printing Ink of the most approved qualities, Composing Sticks, Brass and Common Galleys, Chases, Imposing Stones, Cases, Paper and Press Boards, Standing Presses, Furniture, together with a complete assortment of all articles used in a Printing Office, will be kept constantly on hand.

Small founts, suitable for Book Binders, in great variety, may be had when called for.

Orders from all parts in the Union will be promptly and most carefully attended to, and particularly in supplying sorts for all founts furnished by their predecessors, Binny & Ronaldson, and Richard Ronaldson.
